Pullman, WA - CourseCo., Inc has named Todd Lupkes as new General Manager and Superintendent of Old Works Golf Course, in Anaconda, MT.

Lupkes has been a part of the Palouse Ridge leadership team for 13 years, acting as the grow-in manager of the golf course prior to the course opening in 2008. During his tenure, Todd received several promotions, eventually becoming the General Manager and leading the property to several national awards and accolades.

"Todd has been a steady and reliable influence on Palouse Ridge Golf Club," said Michael Sharp, President and CEO of CourseCo, one of the largest golf management company in the Western United States. "As one of my favorite golf courses to play in the country, Palouse Ridge Golf Club is a shining example of fantastic architecture and a world class golf experience delivered through a strong partnership between Washington State University and CourseCo," said Sharp.

Perennially considered one of the best public golf courses in the Pacific Northwest, Palouse Ridge Golf Club is a National Audubon Certified property, has played host to several NCAA championship events, and also ranks as one the top college golf courses in the entire country, having been ranked 2nd on Golfweek's list of the top college golf courses.

Todd is excited about his new opportunity to tackle a new challenge in his career. "As a graduate of WSU I am very grateful for my experience here at Palouse Ridge Golf Club," said Lupkes. "I have built fantastic relationships and a list of accomplishments I am very proud we were able to accomplish together during my tenure and I am even more proud that the University entrusted me with this amazing golf course."

Todd will be relocating his family to the State of Montana and take over leadership responsibilities at Old Works Golf Course. A signature Jack Nicklaus designed course, Old Works is best known for its black slag bunkers, a result of the golf course being constructed at the former site of a copper mine. Old Works Golf Course was named as one of the Top 100 golf courses in the country by Golf Digest.

"I want to thank Todd for his many years of service to CourseCo, Palouse Ridge Golf Club, and Washington State University," said Sharp. "Todd has earned this opportunity with CourseCo and is leaving Palouse Ridge with an impressive record of achievements."
